SCHOOL GRADUATES.

Class of Twenty-one Received Diplomas Thursday Evening.

'06 IS THE TWENTY-THIRD.

Dr. W. Baxter Owen of Lafayette College, Delivered an Address, Taking the Place of Usual Essays and Orations—The Class Banquet.

The twenty-third class of the Towanda High school received diplomas Thursday evening in Hale's Opera House at the annual commencement exercises. An audience that filled the house came to honor the taking of this important step into the world of the 21 young ladies and gentlemen of the class of '06.

On the stage were the members of the class, the High school faculty, Dr. O. A. Houghton and the speaker of the evening, Dr. W. Baxter Owen of Lafayette College. Suspended over the stage was the class motto, "Reinheit und Wert," "Purity and Worth," in white German text on a background of evergreen. In the center of the proscenium arch were the class numerals in a wreath of evergreen, and suspended from this to the upper boxes were long streamers of yellow and white, the class colors.

The members of the class are as follows: Stephen D. Ayers, Bert Bazzett, Beatrice C. Casselberry, Mary Catherine Fahey, Lee Fairchild, Harriet Louise Felton, Grace Helen Gillette, Annie E. Hale, Charles Sumner Hall, Donald LeVerne MacNeal, Harriet Lena Obenauer, Edward A. Osborne, Sterling W. Pratt, William H. Ransom, Lena C. Rosenbloom, Edith A. The Salutatory.

The salutatorian of the class was Donald LeVerne MacNeal, and he took for the subject of his essay "Universal Peace." In well chosen words Mr. MacNeal told of the progress made toward a lasting and universal peace, which shall in fts fullness be the crown of civilization. That happy day was contrasted with the Roman peace before the Christian era, a peace maintained by the sword. The great monuments of past civilizations have been erected in times of peace; the greatest writers of bygone ages flourished in the golden age.

The Valedictory.

Miss Julia Spalding was the valedictorian of her class, and "The Origin of Myths" was the subject of her well written and entertaining essay. In it she traced the origin and growth of those ancient tales and fables that have been handed down to form one of the chiefest charms of literature. One of the commonly accepted theories of the origin of myths is that they were explanatory of some natural phenomenon. The paper sketched the characteristics of a number of the legendary heroes of ancient time in their suposed virtues. As long as the world stands these creations of the imagination will be sung and remembered. In her valedictory Miss Spalding referred in fitting words to the board of education, Principal Humphries and the faculty and to her classmates.

Address by Dr. W. B. Owen.

A pleasing departure was made this year in having an address instead of an essay or oration from each member of the class, this being made necessary by the large number to be graduated. The speaker of the evening was Dr. W. Baxter of Lafayette College. Dr. Owen is a native of Wysox, but has been for many years a prominent instructor at Easton.

He took for his subject, "What the School Does for Us."

Prof. Owen said in part: We have high estimates of the value of education, but our notions of what that value is are often somewhat vague. We find that in the true measurements of manhood the most showy results of schooling may be of little account. A very common impression is that we go to school to get knowledge; and under that impression we overload our courses of instruction, make out examinations that test knowledge, but never a test of temper or patience, or conscience, or qualities of heart or character.

Knowledge of course is very important. Knowledge is power, we say, and it is so when it reaches that point where it commands the utilites of life. It is power when it rises to that level where it can be transmitted into capacity, into character; but mere knowledge of facts as a personal accomplishment is not power and may have very little value of any kind.

The purpose of education is not to learn many things, but to learn certain things so well that they become a part of us. We should be able as a result of schooling to work out such knowledge as we have into capacity, into power, into ideals. That point brings forward discipline—training to effectiveness.

Note two or three elementary stages in the discipline of thought: First—to promote readiness of thought, ease in its common improvements; to make thinking consecutive and bring it under the control of the will. That is the only thinking that has much value. Second—To promote promptness in the process of exact reasoning. That we get in the mathematics.

Third—To cultivate accuracy in the observation of simple facts. That we get in elementary nature study.

Fourth—To learn to form correct conclusions from facts. That involves seeing the significance of particular facts and their relations to each other. This is reasoning, the most valuable result of education. It is a training of judgment, and in judgment we touch the highest form of intellectual endowment. Judgment is a gift, but its cultivation should be the purpose of a large part of school work.

The speaker gave a good deal of emphasis to this subject, his point being that reason is trained best by dealing with thoughts rather than with things.

The education of information does not develop reasoning power. Reason must grow upon its own product, that which expresses thought. In language we have the very implements of reasoning. The subject was fully illustrated by examples of school work in language.

So much on the side of training. Of course literature has other values, as a source of truth and ideas, the wealth of thought that it contains. By reason of literature we are the heirs of the ages, and it is no small part of the purpose of school work to qualify us to enter upon our inheritance, that is, be able to get thoughts from the printed page.

Hence enrichment of mind not only, but enrichment of nature; for we pass at once into the region of moral culture. We get not only ideas but ideals; ideals of industry, of truthfulness of integrity; ideals of patriotism, of justice; ideals of courage and powers and beauty and speech; ideals of hope, and of faith.

Ideals are generated by the enthusiasms of personal contact with men and women who have spiritual fibre enough to project an ideal and to impress it upon those with whom they come in contact. It is at this point that the school work touches the inner substance which we call character, the importance of which need not be insisted upon in such a presence as this.

'06 Banquet.

Following the commencement exercises the class banquet was held at the Ward House, the members of the class and the High school faculty attending. There were brief impromptu speeches, and much fun, which together with a tempting menu combined to make the evening's close most enjoyable.

SERIES OF MISFORTUNES.

Fires and Wind Destroy Buildings of E. B. Jones.

During the past fifteen months E. B. Jones has without doubt had his share of misfortune. In April, 1905, a large barn owned by him was burned and again last spring another barn was burned. The circumstances surrounding the fires led many to believe that they were of incendiary origin. It is not so with the misfortune of Sunday of this week.

A few days ago George Ford was engaged to move a barn on his farm at Jackson Valley, known as the Beeman barn to the foundation of the last barn burned. On Saturday Mr. Ford had gotten the structure partially on the foundation and intended to finish the work on Monday of this week. On Sunday abount 2 o'clock a heavy wind storm came up and blew the roof off, carrying it down in a meadow some rods away and tipped the barn over into the basement, completely wrecking the structure.—Eastern Bradford Times.

Killed by Lightning.

During the severe thunder storm that passed over Dimock, near Montrose, Saturday afternoon, Frank Bunnell was struck by lightning and instantly killed.

HAWES FACTORY SOLD

New Owners Will Increase the Equipment and Start Soon.

$50,000 OF ORDERS ON HAND.

Towanda Plant Makes the Fourth Big Concern to Be Operated by the Interests Now in Control—Middle of July Will See 200 Men Working.

After negotiations extending over a period of about three weeks, the plant and stock of the James H. Hawes Manufacturing Co. will be transferred to new owners, correspondence received yesterday afternoon indicating a final agreement between the parties. The new owners are men having toy factories at Bristol Vt., Livingston Manor, N Y., and Laanna Pike county. The plants in each of these places is operated under a different name, and the incorporated company that will operate the Hawes factory will probably be known as the Hawes-Laanna Manufacturing Co.

While the plants are under different ownership, Dr. W.W. Nuss of Philadelphia, and J. C. Covington of New York city, are interested in all of them, and goods are sold through one sales agency, and the financial business of all plants is handled by one man. With these gentlemen will be associated George W. Ford also of Philadelphia, and one of his sons will probably be actively connected with the business here.

Will Run Plant to Full Capacity.

It is the intention of the new owners to install about $6,000 worth of new machinery, which is now in Philadelphia ready for shipment, and within three or four weeks—probably about the middle of July—the plant will be running with 200 hands. This does not mean "boys and girls," as so many seem to think constitutes the working force of a toy factory, but will be about 150 men and 50 boys.

The new owners have $50,000 worth of orders that will be turned in to the Towanda factory at once, and they are anxious to get to work on them. Some of this work is for Fall delivery, and means that considerable hustling must be done to get it out in time.

All Towandians who have met Dr. Nuss and Mr. Covington recognize them as energetic and wideawake business men and their success in other places clearly indicates that the Hawes factory goes in to the hands of men who understand their business, and will run the establishment in a businesslike manner. No information has yet been given out concerning the new superintendent of the factory, but it is understood he is one of the best in the country, and up to the present time has been employed with another large factory.

The change will be a welcome one to the old employes of the factory here, many of whom had no regular and permanent employment since the toy factory force was reduced last Winter. These men will undoubtedly find employment with the new management.

History of the Plant.

The James H. Hawes Manufacturing company was incorporated in 1887, the present plant erected and the business moved her from Masontown, wher it was established in 1861 by James H. Hawes and George Hawes. James H. Hawes died in 1888, at which time William H. Hawes became the president of the company, a position he held as well as the superintendency of the plant until his death on May 2, 1905. The Hawes brothers were manufacturers of toys by inheritance. Their father, George Hawes, was engaged in the business in England and on coming to this country established a factory at Newark, N. J., of which the original factory at Masontown was a branch.

The largest plant of the kind in the country, it has been for many years justly celebrated for its output of toys and wood novelties, and its product has been sold the world around where civilization is found. A large number of employes have found work there and hundreds of thousands of dollars have been paid out in wages during the nearly 20 years of its operation in this borough.

REV. RILEY THREATENS TO PROSECUTE LIQUOR SELLERS.

Objects to Dealers' Remarks About Recent Crusade.

Rev. W. L. Riley of Philadelphia, superintendent of the law enforcement department of the Anti-Saloon League delivered an address in the M. E. church at Sayre on a recent Sunday evening and he was greeted by a large audience.

Rev. Mr. Riley recently caused the arrest of the proprietors of four hotels in Sayre. He came there later in order to explain to the people of Sayre just what had occurred following the arrests. When the cases came up for a hearing at Towanda, the dockets showed that the cases were dismissed.

Rev. Mr. Riley stated in his address that the proprietors of the hotels were before Justice Meredith they each paid a fine of $50, and the costs of the prosecution, that there was no trial of the cases, and that upon payment of the fines and costs, of course the cases were dismissed. He further stated that if the defendants persist in claiming that they were discharged by Justice Meredith on account of lack of evidence, he would bring action before the courts of the county to have their licenses revoked.

He spoke briefly against the penny-in-the-slot machines and among the statements he made were these: That from Sept. 10 of last year up to April 1 of this year over 600 slot machines had been removed or hidden in the northeastern district of Pennsylvania in order to escape prosecutions, that over 500 saloon keepers had been arrested, convicted and fined for selling liquor on Sunday, and that evidence against many other saloon keepers has been obtained and prosecutions will be commenced soon. He claims that the Anti-Saloon League has defeated applications for 580 liquor licenses in the northeast section.

COMMISSIONERS PETITIONED AGAINST NEW BRIDGE.

Western Bradford People Object to the Proposed James Street Bridge.

Last week six petitions were presented to the county commissioners by residents of the Western part of the county, protesting against the building of the proposed James street bridge across the Susquehanna river at North Towanda. Some 500 names are attached, all of them from the Western side of the county.

The petitions are headed, "Taxpayers, Save Your Backs," and recite reasons why the bridge should not be built. Among other misstatements is that of including in a list of river bridges, and they are all named from Milltown to Wyalusing, a bridge at Standing Stone. Duplicates were also sent to the president judge.

While it is probable the James street bridge will come before the county commissioners in due time in the regular and lawful way, when it will be their duty to build it, it is pertinent to present just one fact in the case for present consideration: Last year nine bridges were built by the county. Of these one was in Asylum township, one in Standing Stone township—not across the river—and the other seven in the Western townships of Bradford county. Of these seven two were in Wells, one each in Springfield, LeRoy, Troy, Ridgebury, and Columbia, and an extensive and expensive repairing of a county bridge in Troy borough.

With the alterations of the Lehigh Valley railroad line opposite Towanda, the already dangerous road will become more dangerous and more expensive to maintain. The James street bridge will then become a necessity as well as a great convenience not only to Towanda borough, but to a large and rich section of Eastern Bradford county.

A Romance of the Penny.

The Advertiser prints a good story to the effect that the head on the United States penny is not that of an Indian but of Sarah Longacre Keen, a former Mansfield girl. Her father was an engraver in the Philadelphia mint and a chief playfully dropped his head gear on Sarah while a guest in the Keen home. Her picturesque appearance so appealed to an artistic friend of the family that he sketched her on the spot and his design for the new penny then about to appear, was accepted.

Won University Prize.

Thomas H. Atherton, Jr., of Wilkes-Barre, was a member of the class graduated from Princeton university last week. Mr. Atherton was awarded the "Frederick Barnard White prize in architecture," for the best essay on the "Romanesque" and the best set of drawings on the subject.

Condition Critical.

Frank Coolbaugh, a young boy whose home is in Bernice, was taken to the hospital at Sayre Friday and was at once operated upon for a severe attack of gangrenous appendicitis. His recovery is in doubt.

REPUBLICAN PRIMARY

Moscrip and Stevens Winners in Legislative Contest.

BLISH JURY COMMISSIONER.

Very Light Vote Was Polled and in Some Cases the Struggle Was Very Close—Hoyt Defeated By Stevens in Sayre—The Local Vote.

The Republican primaries on Saturday for the selection of two candidates for the legislature and one candidate for jury commissioner brought out a very light vote, although the interest in some sections of the county was keen.

Returns from every district in the county where Republican primaries were held have been received. Barclay township was the only place where a primary was not held. The returns give the vote for the various candidates as follows:

For representative: Hon. L. T. Hoyt, 1,003; Hon. E. M. Tuton, 875; Hon. George Moscrip, 2,013; Dr. C. L. Stevens, 2,516; Giles M. Coons, 695.

For jury commissioner: Charles Scott, 1,026; James Mustart, 523; Freeman Dixon, 374; Addison Gillette, 630; S. A. Blish, 1,117.

On the popular vote the nominations will go to Dr. Stevens and Mr. Moscrip for representative and to Mr. Blish for jury commissioner. There is some dispute as to whether the rules demand that a candidate shall have a majority over all the other candidates or whether he shall have a majority of all the votes cast. Mr. Stevens and Mr. Moscrip each have a majority of all the votes cast, there being but 3,892 polled, but neither has a majority over the three other candidates. It is thought that there will be no contest over this, however, and that the low candidates will withdraw and make the nominations unanimous.

In the case of the jury commissioner, while Mr. Blish has more votes than Mr. Scott, neither has a majority, and on the first roll of delegates as instructed by the returns, Mr. Scott has more delegates than Mr. Blish. When the low man, Mr. Dixon, is dropped Mr. Blish gains enough delegates to give him three more than Mr. Scott. This matter will have to be disposed of in the convention.

S. & N. SURVEYORS ARE WORKING ON EXTENSIONS.

Planning to Enter Heart of City of Williamsport.

A force of civil engineers that have been at work for several days, between Newberry and the city proper have created no little speculation. Characteristic of engineers, however, the men were doing nothing but measuring and "sawing wood," and it was not until Thursday that the purport of the surveyors' work was learned. The men are in the employ of the Susquehanna and New York railroad company, under the direction of S. T. Hayt, Jr., chief engineer, and the line being run is for the purpose of bringing the Susquehanna and New York into the business section of Williamsport.

Mention was made recently of the fact that the Susquehanna and New York had resurveyed its proposed route from Ralston to Williamsport, crossing the Pennsylvania railroad overhead, at a point west of Newberry. It was then presumed that the purpose of the road was to come into the city over the New York Central and Reading, to the Pine street station of the latter company. But the work of the company's surveyors, in running a line of their own eastward from a point near Newberry Junction to the heart of the city develops the fact that General Manager Newman proposes to have the Susquehanna trains reach Williamsport over its own tracks.

The line now being surveyed is already staked out from Lycoming creek to the vicinity of the saw mill of the Central Pennsylvania Lumber company in the West End. The proposed route crosses the creek a short distance south of the bridge of the Williamsport Passenger Railway company, traverses the fair grounds, passes through the Walker farm, crosses the Pennsylvania railroad and extends eastward to the vicinity of the Central Pennsylvania saw mill. It is understood that the surveyors have been instructed to establish a practical route through the manufacturing district south of Third stret to the central part of the city, where a passenger station will probably be erected. There is a rumor afloat to the effect that the station at the foot of Pine street may be used jointly with the Reading and New York Central railroads. There has been no survey made through Newberry as yet.—Williamsport Sun.

Pennsylvania Druggists' Convention.

The Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical association will hold its annual convention and outing at Glen Summit, June 26-29. In addition to the reading of interesting papers and the discussion of important topics pertaining to pharmacy a fine program has been arranged by the entertainment committee. The 9th Regiment band will give a concert on Wednesday evening, the 27th, and games, evening dances, progressive euchre parties and a tally-ho drive on the boulevard have been arranged for the druggists, their wives and friends.

Not the least of one's assets in the bookkeeping of life are a good name and the cordial esteem of one's fellows.

The clover meadow, the manure spreader and the King road drag constitute an up to date and winning agricultural trinity.

Tobacco dust is one of the best preventives of damage by the striped beetles which attack the cucumber, squash and melon vines.

We have known of cases where a line fence was the occasion for ill feeling between neighbors on the best of terms in every other particular.

It is a wise man who can profit by the mistakes of his neighbors and doesn't have to go through a similar experience to learn the lessons which they teach.

Fruits, such as apples, bananas and oranges, are tiptop flesh reducers which have this to be said in their favor—that they will not ruin one's complexion, digestion or disposition.

A country school we know has been greatly improved in appearance by the making of beds for wild and tame flowers—the result of putting into practice some nature study suggestions of an enthusiastic teacher.

That agricultural system which will result in the heaviest production of barnyard manure will be found to bring the largest returns for effort invested and will not only decrease, but rather increase, the fertility and value of the farm.

From $50 to $80 may be added to the value of any farm for every acre which can be reclaimed and put into crops by a system of thorough tile draining, and wherever done it will be found to be money easily made.

It is now claimed that the striped or ground squirrel is of benefit rather than injury to a field of corn, as it is not the corn he is after, but webworms, cutworms and other worm and insect pests, and that the damage he may do the corn is more than offset by the insects he destroys.

Some 300 Fameuse trees in the writer's orchard belong to the "lily" class of the Scripture, "which neither toil nor spin." They have not the redeeming feature of the lily of which it was said that "Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these." They are an unfruitful, scraggly and unprofitable proposition, and the ax is already laid at their root.

A lady reader of these notes gives us the following recipe for preserving sweet corn, which produces an article superior to both the canned and dried product: Boil corn on ear till milk sets, cut from cob and mix thoroughly with salt at the rate of one pint of salt to four of corn; pack in jar and cover with cloth and plate. Salt should be soaked out before cooking. Corn preserved in this way keeps its flavor remarkably well and is also tender.

A Pulaski county (Ind.) syndicate will this year devote a 2,000 acre farm to the culture of mint. This product demands a peculiar soil—black and mucky—a drained swamp makes a good location. The company in question is capitalized at $80,000, the relatively large amount of money being necessitated by a laboratory and refinery which are needed in the preparation of the product. The returns are estimated at $200 per acre when in full tilth.

A factory employee residing in or near an eastern city who bought all the feed for his cow and a flock of twenty-five hens presents the following figures showing the cost of keeping and amount realized from each: The feed bill of the cow amounted to $92.80, with receipts from her milk and butter product of $114, while it cost $24.40 to keep the hens, which in eggs and poultry sold showed a return of $102.01. The hens are thus seen to have been much the better proposition.

Experiments conducted at the Michigan experiment stations show that a succotash crop consisting of corn, peas, oats, rape and clover insures a most excellent and satisfactory forage and soiling crop during the months of July and August, when the grass is short. The land on which the experiment was tried was well manured and put in good condition, the rape and clover being sown broadcast and the corn, peas and oats being drilled in, the entire mixture being sown at the rate of two bushels to the acre.

An observation of a grosbeak which was engaged in the building of her nest within a rod of our dining room window seems to show that she worked on her nest for not more than an hour early in the morning, the only way we could account for which being that the roots of which her nest was largely constructed were more pliable at the time mentioned and could be more easily twined into the fabric of the nest. It was further observed that not until the female had about finished her labors did the male bird put in an appearance and cheer her with a song.

A cement floor has been found an ideal one for the granary, being rat proof and not drawing dampness.

Some good people we know unqualifiedly class dandelion greens as a relic of barbarism, coming down from the time when our ancestors climbed trees and lived in dens and caves. We confess the barbaric taint.

An ideal economic condition which ought some day to be realized is that under which every man should have a home and enough land surrounding it to furnish him a living provided he is willing to work for it.

While sandy soils are much more easily worked than clay and as a rule "quicker," they suffer much more than do clay soils from erosion and more quickly lose their fertility by a gradual process of washing and leaching.

A field of corn may be dragged without injury in the middle of the day, when it is warm and the stalks are limber and pliable, when the same treatment would prove disastrous in the cool of the morning or evening, when the stalks are damp and brittle.

The good housewife should not in addition to her necessary burdens and anxieties be compelled to put up with the distraction incident to a leaky roof. This nuisance belongs to the same class as the balky horse or rusty plow and should be remedied as quickly as they.

The only rational ground for explaining the presence of weeds on supposedly clean soils is that below a certain depth seeds lie dormant through a period of two or three years, simply waiting to be thrown to the surface and exposed to air and heat to germinate and grow to maturity.

It is only in cases where the hawk or owl proves a serious menace to the turkeys and chickens that their destruction is at all justifiable. Unless they are sinners in this respect they should be left unmolested, as usually the service they perform in the destruction of rabbits, rats and mice more than pays for the harm they may do.

A pamphlet recently issued by the forest service of the department of agriculture contains interesting data relative to the number of cross ties used on the railroads of the country during the year 1905. On the 278,262 miles from which reports were received 80,051,000 ties were used, of which number 22,569,000, or 36 per cent, were used in the construction of new track. Of the number of ties mentioned 38,000,000 were of oak, 17,000,000 were of pine, while cedar, chestnut, fir, cypress, tamarack and hemlock, with a few other varieties, furnished the remaining number.

Although we have given the formula before, because of the large number who will likely find it necessary to spray their potato patches we again give the method of making the bordeaux mixture: One pound of copper sulphate and one pound of lime paste made from freshly slacked lime to ten gallons of water. This will prevent the potato blight. To this amount of solution should be added so as to be applied at the same time two ounces of paris green, which will fix the beetles. The potatoes should be sprayed every ten or fifteen days during the growing season, or at least until the bugs disappear.

A letter received from the manufacturers of the power sprayer which we are using in our orchard for the first time this year contains a suggestion or two which may be of assistance to some who are using the same or a similar machine. "Be sure that the suction hose is properly attached and the gasket in place, so that it will not suck air. See that the plungers are kept well oiled with a good light machine oil, putting some on every twenty or thirty minutes, as the packing will last longer and the elbow grease as well, for the pump will run much easier if well oiled. This is often neglected by farmers, and as a result the packing has to be screwed tighter to keep the solution back."

BOOZE AND AGRICULTURE.

There is no business occupation in which the booze habit does not exert a blighting and disastrous effect and none in which it is more true than in agriculture, for there is none in which success depends more largely upon a clear and level head as well as persevering and well directed effort. We have in mind an acquaintance of many years ago who when his father's estate was divided received a fine 160 acre farm as his due portion. Our friend was a hard worker and soon after coming into possession of the farm became as hard a drinker. In the course of fifteen years he succeeded in transferring his profits into the saloon keepers' till and in return was able to show a dilapidated and rundown farm, mortgaged to the limit, while empty kegs and bottles, with poverty and misery, bore eloquent yet pathetic testimony to his material and moral decadence. Finally, when the dregs in the bottom of the cup had been drained and he "fain would fill his belly with the husks that the swine did eat," he came to, took a brace and bravely began to retrace his weary steps up the long incline toward a temperate prosperity. When last we heard of him he had not yet reached the summit, but was nearly there, the years past middle life which should have known somewhat of leisure and much of contentment having been passed in the hard toil and drudgery in the reclamation of his lost estate. It took our friend a long time to learn the lesson that booze has no place in successful agriculture, but he learned it. His case is cited here for the benefit of some who are traversing the same road, but don't appreciate the finish—the dregs and the husks.

FREE GRAIN ALCOHOL ASSURED.

It is a matter of utmost significance from the standpoint of securing as cheap and effective light, heat and motor power as possible that the bill providing for the removal of the duty of $2.07 a gallon from grain alcohol "denatured"—that is, rendered unfit for use as a beverage—has passed both houses of congress. The bill, in which there may be some unimportant changes before it receives the signature of the president, provides for the removal of the duty on and after Jan. 1, 1907. This will give the manufacturers of wood alcohol, which owing to the high price of grain alcohol has been largely used as a substitute for it, time to adjust themselves to the new conditions, getting rid of their stocks and readjusting their distillery equipment. However, it is thought that in a short time practically all of the methyl or wood alcohol would be needed in denaturing the grain or ethyl alcohol, so that the manufacturers of wood alcohol would suffer no permanent loss. In a report by Congressman Payne of the ways and means committee the statement is made that a record kept at a big distillery at Peoria, Ill., and covering a period of ten years showed that the cost of making a gallon of proof alcohol was 1.89 cents, while the cost of the grain used to produce it was 8.89 cents on the basis of corn at 42.3 cents per bushel, which would make the total cost 10.78 cents per proof or test gallon, or 19.4 cents per wine or bulk gallon testing 90 per cent. With corn at 30 cents per bushel and each bushel producing five proof gallons, 90 per cent denatured alcohol would cost 14.20 cents per gallon. The same report states that alcohol can be made from the lowest quality of Cuban molasses, which is now put on the eastern market at a trifle above cost of transportation, at 10 cents per gallon. In view of these figures and the further fact that a gallon of alcohol will last as long as two gallons of kerosene and is cheaper, safer and cleaner than gasoline, the importance of the law just passed is perhaps more fully realized. Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture, who has realized the importance of free alcohol to the industrial and agricultural interests of the country and who has given the bill in question cordial support from the start, states that "the northern states could readily depend upon the white potato as a source of heat and light, the southern states upon the yam and sweet potato and the western states upon the sugar beet. The average amount of sugar and starch that goes to waste in the stalks of Indian corn annually would make 100 gallons of commercial alcohol per acre. When we consider that the number of acres in Indian corn is approximately 100,000,000 it is seen that the quantity of alcohol that is lost in the stalks is so large as to be almost beyond the grasp of our conception."

Whether there is any connection we cannot state on authority, but apple trees bearing the pinkest blossoms usually produce the reddest cheeked fruit. The one exception seems to be that of the wild or native crab, which seems to show no color whatever and yet whose blossoms are the pinkest that grow.

The real value of the blue grass pasture is often overlooked because a strict account is seldom kept of the financial gains which result from it. A friend gives us the following statement: Twenty steers made a gain of 400 pounds each on a season's blue grass pasturage. At $4 per hundredweight, the price at which the animals sold, the gain was $16 per head. Deducting $3 per head for pasture leaves $11 per acre as the net return, which compares very favorably with what would have been realized had the same land been planted to corn, oats or other cereal crop, there being this additional advantage—that no time was required in preparation of ground, planting, tilling or harvesting, while the pasture tract was more fertile at the end than it was at the beginning of the season.

PAPER FROM SWEET CORN HUSKS.

As showing the constant effort that is put forth to utilize byproducts in the manufacture of different articles of food or apparel we note that there has been organized in a western city in which is located one of the largest sweet corn canning factories in the country a company with a capital stock of $100,000 for the purpose of manufacturing paper from the husks of the sweet corn, which up to the present time have only partially been used in the feeding of stock. Experiments which have been conducted for some time past seem to indicate that the project is feasible, that the husks are easily reduced to pulp and that the pulp so far used has made paper of the strongest fiber. We believe the time is not far off when not only the husks, but stalks of sweet corn and field corn will be used in the manufacture of the coarser grades of paper, thereby preventing a very large and hitherto unavoidable waste.

Intellectual Drinks.

"Tea and coffee are drugs—drugs solely," said a chemist. "They stimulate the brain, and the reaction from the stimulation is not perceptible; hence tea and coffee are excellent brain spurs. For a little while they do actually make us more intelligent than we naturally are. That is why they are so popular. It is why we chemists call them intellectual drinks. Alcohol, whether it be taken in the form of champagne or beer or whisky, is not an intellectual drink, but the opposite. From the beginning alcohol stupefies instead of enlivening the brain. But it makes us talk! If it were not enlivening how should it make us talk? Alas, alcohol makes us talk, but we say under its influence the things we should not. Alcohol deadens the inhibitory, the prohibitive centers of the brain. It stupefies the brain muscle, which knows what things should not be told, and hence, while drinking we talk; but, oh, the things we say, and, oh, how we blush in the cold gray light of the morning after to remember what we said!"

Rubies.

The finest rubies are still kept in Asia. The Great Mogul had 108 large rubies in his throne, and among them was one weighing two and one-half ounces. Of European rubies Charles the Bold, that luckless son of a fortunate father, had three rubies called the Three Brothers, of perfect color and worthy size. They passed into the possession of James I., who sent them to "Baby Charles." There is a large heart shaped balas ruby in the English crown. It has been neither cut nor polished, is only semitransparent and is of a dark red, like a morello cherry. Austria had, or has, an oriental ruby the size of a hen's egg, and Queen Elizabeth showed Sir James Melville one as big as a racket ball. Runjeet Singh had a large ruby with the names of many kings engraved on it. Among them was that of Aurangzeb. A king of Persia had one which he prized at the value of a city or even a kingdom. It was a table cut balas ruby of a beautiful color of at least a finger's breadth

PENSION LAWS.

Article That Will Be of Interest to All Veterans.

The following article, written by Charles T. Hull of Athens for the Valley Record, will be of interest to all veterans in this section:

We are receiving so many inquiries in regard to a new pension bill that we deem it best to make the following explanation. There has been no new pension legislation except to legalize the age order No. 8 that went into effect two years ago. At that time quite a pressure was made upon congress to enact a service pension law, but conditions were such that it was found impossible. To meet some of the demands of the situation the age order No. 8 was issued which gives a pension of $6 when the veteran arrives at the age of 62 years; $8 at 65; $10 at 68 and $12 at 70.

The provisions of this order were incorporated in the pension appropriation bill this session and passed so that these provisions no longer rest on an executive order but are binding as a law. No new pension law has been passed this year and conditions are such that none will be enacted. Commander in Chief Tanner promised when elected that he would not let congress have any rest until they passed the Grand Army service pension bill. He has a good pension committee to work with him and they have been in consultation with President Roosevelt and the members of congress, as well as the commissioner of pensions. They have figured out the increased cost to put this bill into operation and find it would be over $34,000,000.

As the expenses of the government over ran its receipts last year it was found that there could be no favorable action upon the bill and it has gone over for another year. The statements in the papers that a veteran can receive a pension when he arrives at the age of 60 is not true. Also the project to place the state militia on the pension rolls cannot be done at this time. The militiamen who were disabled in the line of duty can get pensions under the present laws, but there is no other provision for them to receive pensions.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure such ills.
Have cured women here in Towanda.

Mrs. G. G. Stevens, living at Macedonia, four miles from Towanda, says: "I have been troubled more or less from kidney complaint ever since I was a small girl, but never doctored directly for my kidneys until recently. I have suffered more during the past year than ever before. I had terrible cramps across the small of my back, especially in the morning, though they also bothered me during the day and I often felt like giving up. One of my neighbors who had used Doan's Kidney Pills with wonderful results spoke so highly of them that I was induced to buy a box at E. P. Kester's drug store, 505 Main street, Towanda. It gave me so much relief that I got a second and third box, but before I had finished the third box the terrible cramps across the small of my back disappeared and I have not been troubled since to amount to anything. I wished I had used Doan's Kidney Pills long ago. They would have saved me a great deal of suffering."

Twelve Lackawanna county saloon keepers were taken before Alderman Owen Charles of West Scranton, Saturday, charged with selling liquor on Sunday. Each of the defendants was fined $50 and was also directed to pay the costs of prosecution.

Fred M. Leonard of Coudersport, formerly of Wellsboro, who has served two terms as U. S. Marshal for the Central Pennsylvania district at $4,500 a year, has been succeeded by C. R. Witmer of Sunbury. His second term expired in December last and his successor has just been appointed.

I cannot bear to think what life would be with high hope shrunk to endurance; stunted aims, like broken lances, ground to eating knives; a self sunk down to look with level eyes at low achievement, doomed from day to day to distaste of its own consciousness.—George Eliot.

Judson Lutes, the farmer-butcher from Dallas, Luzerne county, who was convicted in the Luzerne county courts Thursday for selling rotten beef, was sentenced to six months in jail by Judge Lynch. A fine of $100 and costs were also imposed.

Within the past few days the 17-year locusts have made their appearance in the vicinity of Altoona. Millions of them have been discovered in the forests on the mountains, and they have already damaged some of the young timber tracts. Farmers report no damage as yet. Lakemont Park cottagers complain that the noise they make prevents sleep at night.

Over 1,000,0000 immigrants will have entered the United States through New York during the year ending June 30, according to an estimate made by Immigration Commissioner Watchorn, at Ellis Island. Up to June 1 there had been 870,000 immigrants landed. If the ratio so far attained this month is continued to the end of the fiscal year all previous records will be broken.

The first steel passenger coach to be built at the new Berwick steel passenger car plant has just been completed for the New York Central and is one of 125 of a similar kind to be built for that company. Each car is equipped with two 160 horse power motors and will be run on a third rail line between New York and White Plains. The cars are built with the purpose of being also run over steam lines.

A dispatch to a Philadelphia paper in speaking of the twelve divorce cases disposed of in the civil court at Wellsboro recently says: "Statistics show that, according to population, there are more divorce cases in Tioga county than in any other county in Pennsylvania. This is attributed to the large number of elopements and runaway marriages contracted by couples going across the New York state line, where a marriage license is unnecessary, and which can be reached from any part of the county in a few hours."

From sources close to Colonel Guffey it was learned at Philadelphiia Tuesday that he is endeavoring to learn the true statement of the Democrats in the state with regard to Emery. If he is convinced that certain Democrats who are advocating the indorsement of Emery by the Democratic convention are sincere, his friends said he would not lift a finger to prevent this being done. If, however, he is satisfied that the movement is being used to cover up an attack on his own leadership, Guffey, it is said, will fight to the finish.

The admission of Oklahoma and Indian territory into the union as one state under the name of Oklahoma adds one more star to the flag. The bill, passed by congress, also provides for the admission of New Mexico and Arizona as one state, under the name of Arizona, if the people of the two territories vote in favor of admission on the terms submitted to them by congress. After signing the Oklahoma bill President Roosevelt expressed the wish that the two other territories might see their way clear to uniting in one state.

THE DRIFT TOWARD BRYAN.

An unmistakable wane of Bryan sentiment has been sweeping through the Democratic ranks in different parts of the country during the past few weeks. Missouri's state convention has demanded Bryan's nomination in 1908. Many county conventions in that state and in Ohio, Indiana and other states have done the same thing. The present outlook is that he will be nominated on the first ballot in 1908. The only person apparently who can head off his unanimous nomination is William R. Hearst.

This would indicate a surprising change in popular sentiment in the Democratic party, but there are good reasons for assuming that it is impending. Hearst is becoming almost as much of a terror to old fashioned Clevelandites as Robespierre was to the French conservatives of a little over a century ago. He is a radical beyond any of the supporters of Bryan in the great radical outbreak of 1896. Many of the ideas incorporated in Bryan's platform of ten years ago, which sent hundred of thousands of Democrats out of their party for the time, are no longer heard of. Free silver has been abolished by Republican victories and Republican statutes and other questions have become long since dead issues.

It is said that Belmont, Ryan, DeLancey Nicoll, and others of the old-time conservatives are to get up a reception for Bryan when he lands in New York at the end of his tour around the world. Such an affair, which would have been inconceivable a few years ago, is part the natural course of events now. Nobody seems to be surprised at the report of the rumored approaching rally of the conservatives on Bryan. The appearance of Cleveland as one of the speakers at the Bryan reception is not at all improbable. Confronted with this portent of Hearst all the moderates and the quasi-radicals are forced into the same camp. Not that Cleveland and his faction rate Bryan less, but Hearst more. Democratic politics has made some lightning changes in the past half a century, but a transformation is probably just ahead of us which will make all the metamorphoses from Douglas's and Breckinridge's days onward look tame.

MR. LILLEY ON THE RATE BILL.

The propostition to forbid the issuance of free transportation to the railroad men and their families has stirred up congressmen who have a large number of railroad men in their districts. As a result some neat compliments have been tossed in the direction of the engine driver, the front brakeman and the flagman. None did it in eater fashion than Representative Lilley of Pensylvania, who in the course of a few remarks. said:

I would be glad, indeed, if the House today and in this hour could put the seal of its disapproval on that clause of the bill which says that railroad employees and their families cannot be furnished free transportation by their employer. How it came in the bill I do not know, but this I do know, that if it was put in in good faith the man who placed it there forgot the engieer leaning far out in the cab with his eye on the rail all night, and the passenger asleep, and sleeping because they knew the man was there. He forgot the rear brakeman, who often stands out in the storm with the thermometer below zero, guarding the rear of the train while the passenger sleeps because he knows the man is there.

I would be glad if we could put the seal of our disapproval upon that clause now. I find no fault with the leadership which says that this is not the proper time, but I shall find fault, and I shall not vote for the bill, if that clause is not eliminated. Fully one-fourth of the residents of my district are directly interested in this bill, and I ask you now, I ask my friends upon the other side of the House, while I am here on the Cherokee Strip, I ask you not to place us even in the position of going home to our constituents with having had to vote upon such a proposition, and I ask that the conferees when the bill gets back to them to see to it that this clause is taken out.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

MOSCRIP AND STEVENS.

Although the vote polled at the primaries last Saturday was light it was large enough to leave no doubt whatever as to the choice of the voters for representatives. Moscrip and Stevens lead their opponents by so large a majority that the verdict of the primaries will be accepted without question by all Republicans as expressive of the real sentiment of the party and as such it will be overwhelmingly endorsed in November.

Both of the nominees are men of the highest character and intelligence and we are sure they will at all times endeavor to faithfully serve their constituents. Both stand pledged to the reforms the people are demanding and we are confident that they will keep every one of these pledges. We congratulate not only the Republicans of Bradford county on the result of Saturday's primaries, but the voters of all parties as well, for it will mean that the interests of all the people will be carefully looked after in the next legislature.

The Burroughs Club of America, together with all true sportsmen all over the country, is making a determined fight against the automatic or repeating shotgun for hunting purposes. It is proposed to secure legislation against this weapon, if possible, and at least create such a sentiment against it that no decent sportsman will use one.

EDUCATIONAL CONVENTION.

One of the most important state conventions of the year will be that of the Pennsylvania Educational association, to be held at Altoona, July 3, 4 and 5, 1906.

This body comprehends all of the educational forces of the state, from the kindergarten to the university. Among the practical, up-to-date subjects that will be discussed at this meeting are the following: "The Status of Child Labor in Pennsylvania, Legal and Otherwise;" "Individual Instruction as a Supplement to Class Recitations;" "Systematic High School Inspection by the State;" "The School as a Factor in Creating Civic Virtue;" "The Patriotism of Peace;" "Preparation in English for Promotion to the High School;" "Preparation in English for Admission to College;" "The Influence of Music in Education;" "Foundations in Education;" "The Child's Part in Nature Study;" "The Relation of Nature Study to the Natural Sciences;" "The Scope of the High School Commercial Course;" "The Township High School and Its Problems;" "How to Study Children with Profit;" "How to Treat the Dull Child;" "How to Deal with the Child Abnormally Bright;" "The Manual Training High School;" "A Concrete Study in Children's Language," and "Expressions Through Activity."

This will be the fiftieth meeting of the association, and it promises to be one of the most memorable in its history. Its sessions will be held in Aatoona's new High school building, one of the finest of its character in the country. Arrangements are being made to hold anniversary exercises the evening of July 3. The president's inaugural address will be on the subject, "We Are Fifty Tonight." All of the surviving ex-presidents of the association wil send words of greeting, and as many of them as can attend will occupy positions on the platform on this occasion.

The officers of the association for for the current year are as follows: Superintendent L. E. McGinnes, Steelton, president; Superintendent Samuel Andrews, Pittsburg, Miss Mary J. Marshall, Pittsburg, and Professor C. B. Connelly, Allegheny City, vice presidents; Dr. J. P. McCaskey, Lancaster, secretary, and Professor David S. Keck, Kutztown, treasurer. Executive committee, Superintendent Charles S. Foos, Reading; Superintendent Frank P. Hopper, Luzerne county, and Dr. J. R. Flickinger, Lock Haven; legislative committee, Hon. John Q. Stewart, Harrisburg; Superintendent Grant Norris, Bradford; Dr. G. M. Philips, West Chester; Superintendent Charles Lose, Williamsport; Superintendent H. S. Putnam, Towanda; and Dr. N. C. Schaeffer, Harrisburg, ex-officio.

Teachers and others desiring to attend this meeting should send for card orders for special rates on the railroads to E. C. Hare, High School, Altoona, Pa.

POSITIVE CONVICTIONS.

A New Haven, Conn., special of Sunday says: The Right Rev. Chauncey B. Brewster, Episcopal Bishop of Connecticut, made his sermon at Yale today in effect an address to the classes that will be graduated ten days hence. The formal baccalaureute will be delivered next Sunday by the president of the university, Dr. Hadley.

"We have had recently," said Bishop Brewster, "many instances of men, well meaning at first, who little by little yielded maxim to method until they had gained much money, but lost their sacred honor and have become the scorn and by-word of their own generation.

"Positive convictions and principles are what save a man. Better half a dozen positive convictions than half a hundred half formed ideas. But the man who would conquer must have ideals also more than hobbies or mental pictures to be enjoyed or toys for the intellect to play with. Ideals thus held become battle flags, and though tattered and shot torn are then more revered for the sacrifice it cost to hold them."

STATE'S RED MEN.

Pennsylvania's great council of Improved Order of Red Men convened in fifty-seventh annual session June 12 in Y. M. C. A. hall at Allentown, with all the great chiefs and 350 representatives present. The past sachem degree was conferred upon 165 The finance committee reported receipts of $26,660.23; expenditures, $18,254.88; amount on hand in general fund, $7,768.93; aged members' fund, $649.42; contingent fund, $4,500, and permanent fund, $12,750. The contributions for the San Francisco sufferers of the order were $2,172.

Joseph Farron of Philadelphia, was unanimously elected as great keeper of wampum for two years.

Communications were received and laid over as to the eligibility of past sachems as great representatives, and the advisability of holding a field day. Superior Senior Sagamore W. A. S. Bird of Kansas, has been sent here to raise the great chiefs.

Lancaster was unanimously selected as the meeting place for 1907.

Getting his nomination for governor on a silver plate did not cost Edwin S. Stuart of Philadelphia, a cent. He filed a statement of expenses with the state department, saying that they were below $50, and adding: "I made no expenditure of any character whatever." Robert K. Young, candidate for auditor general, says he spent $37.74 for hotel expenses, and Lester Stewart, who handled the funds for Thomas H. Murray of Clearfield, filed a statement that he had received $525, of which $500 came from John Dubois, the Clearfield millionaire, and spent it all for hotel expenses and printing.

SOIL TESTS IN THIS COUNTY.

What kind of a commercial fertilizer does my soil require? is a question of interest to nearly every farmer. Pennsylvania spends for fertilizers somewhat over $5,000,000 annually, a sum nearly equal to the state appropriation for public schools. The best answer to the question is gained by direct field experiments on the soil involved. To aid a systematic study of the various soils of Pennsylvania, the state experiment station, through its chemist, Prof. Frear, has organized a series of co-operative soil tests with the three principal classes of commercial fertilizers, to determine the present need of the soil, for one or other of these aids to fertility. These co-operative tests are now being made in accordance with the station's instructions, in 38 counties of the state.

In Bradford county the co-operating farmers are: John H. Clark, Rome; John Curren, Gillett; William H. Foster, Standing Stone; Elmer H. Whipple, Skinners Eddy. It will pay those farmers who are cultivating soil of the same kind, to keep a watchful eye on these tests for their own information.

ABOUT DENATURIZED ALCOHOL.

How the Product is Made in Germany in Different Forms.

The recent passage by congress of the free alcohol bill, makes the denaturizing of that product of especial interest just now, as it is claimed it will supersede gasoline and similar products for generating power.

Consul General Thackara, of Berlin, is authority for the following description of the denaturing of alcohol in Germany. For the most industrial purposes the alcohol is used duty free after denaturization. There are two methods of doing this practiced, called the "complete" and "incomplete" degrees. Complete denaturization is accomplished in two ways—first, by the addittion to every 100 litres (26½ gallons) of spirit of two and a half litres of a standard poison. This is made by mixing four parts of wood alcohol with one part of pyridine (a product of the distillation of bones and coal tar), and 150 grains of lavender or rosemary.

Instead of these, zenzol is sometimes used. Of this "complete" p roduct there was used in the year 1903-04 a total of 26,080,505 gallons. The incomplete denaturings are as follows: They are sufficient to spoil the alcohol as a beverage, but allow it to be used in certain processes for which the complete process renders it unavailable. (1) to 26¼ gallons of grain alcohol five litres of wood alcohol, or one of pyridine, are added. (2) To the same amount of spirit 20 litres of a solution of shellac. (3) By the addition of two and two-tenths pounds of camphor, (4) or two litres of oil of turpentine, (5) or one-half litre of benzol.

Alcohol to be used in the manufacture of ether, aldehyde agarcin, white lead, bromsilver, gelatins, photographic papers and plates, electrode plates, collodion, salicylic acid and salts, aniline chemistry and a great number of other purposes, is denaturized by the addition of ten litres of sulphruic ether, or one litre of benzol, or one-half litre oil of turpentine, or 0.025 litre of animal oil.

For the manufacture of varnishes and inks alcohol is denaturized by the addition of oil of turpentine or animal oil, and for the production of soda soaps by the addition of one kilogram of castor oil. Alcohol for the production of lanolin is prepared by adding five litres of benzine to each hectolitre of spirits. The price of denaturized alcohol varies in the different states and provinces of the empire in accordance with the yield and consequent market price of potatoes, grain and other materials. At the present time alcohol of 95 per. cent purity, which is the quality ordinarily used in Germany for burning, sells at wholesade from 28 to 29 pfennings (6.67 to 6.9 cents) per litre (1.06 quarts), and at retail for about 7.8 cents per litre.

"Queen Esther" at Wyalusing.

The Eastern Bradford Choral society, under the direction of S. D. Homet, will give the cantata of "Queen Esther" in the Presbyterian church at Wyalusing, Friday evening of this week, beginning at 8 o'clock. "Queen Esther" never grows old. Perhaps no other cantata of its class has ever received the popular commendation that has fallen to this beautiful production of Bradbury. It has been staged many times in Bradford county and yet the beautiful story of Esther, the Persian queen, has a place of its own. Lockwood, the Elmira costumer, will be present to fit out the characters and give an idea of the splendor and magnificence of the Persian court. Reserved seats are on sale at Allis's drug store.

Thursday morning the log train drawn by engine No. 12, Fred Camp engineer, left Laquin about 6 o'clock. At Whalen a flying switch was made and no flagman sent out, it is stated. Engine No. 3, Edward Johnson engineer, followed the log train pusring a string of empty cars ahead. Mr. Floyd and John Bennett were riding on this train. Bennett saw a collision was coming and shouted to Floyd and jumped. Floyd had no time to escape and was thrown about 15 feet in the air, striking upon his head.

He was hurried to the hospital by Supt. Barclay and Dr. Coon, but remained unconscious until he died. He was in charge of the log loader and had been employed by the Barclays for the past 19 years.

THE FRANKLIN BANQUET.

Most Enjoyable Affair Was Held at the Tidd House.

There have been many banquets held by the various companies of the Towanda fire department, but none of them have excelled for genuine hospitality, good cheer, enthusiasm and company spirit the banquet given by Franklin Steamer Company No. 1, at the Tidd House Thursday evening. Ther was a good attendance of members, and the company had for guests Judge Fanning, Burgess Foyle and members of the town council and some newspaper men.

Proprietor Cook served a most appetizing menu. After that most important subject had been fully discussed, B. F. Dunfee, president of the Franklins, acted as toastmaster, and for over an hour while the cigars were being burned there was no interruption in the talk. The only persons excused were the councilmen. Reminiscences of the old days, plans for the future were discussed and every word said showed that the Franklins intend living up to their motto, "Always on time and ready for action." It was after 12 when the company adjourned, with a resolve to continue the banquet as an annual feature.

He was hauled out forthwith and paid the claim of $22 and costs of $7.32. It pays to have a good memory.

GRADE SCHOOL EXERCISES PRESENTED PRETTY SCENE.

Hale's Opera House Was Packed by Pupils, Their Parents and Friends.

Standing room was at a premium Wednesday last week on the occasion of the closing exercises of the grade school of the borough. This is the second year that public exercises for the grade schools have been held, and it was an unqualified success. The house was taxed to its fullest capacity by pupils and their parents, and the program was carried out without a hitch.

The invocation was given by Dr. O. A. Houghton of the M. E. church, the audience joining in the Lord's Prayer.

The first number was a "Vacation Song," by all the children; then came a recitation, "Vacation Time," by Sylvia Marks. The first grade of the Second ward gave a boat song, which was followed by a mandolin trio by Elmer McCracken, Arthur Kropp and Malcolm McPherson.

Frederick Brown gave a recitation, and the girls of the first and second grades in the Third ward sang a "Daisy Song." A song, "Poor Old Maids," by eight ladies from the second and third grades of the Second ward, made a decided hit. "A Bothered Boy," was recited by Roy Lyke, and Willie Ball, Harriet Powell and Stewart Powell followed with a song. Thirty-six girls from the seventh and eighth grades of the Second ward gave the "Rose Festival," and the fourth and fifth grades of the First ward gave a "Parasol Drill and Rainy Daises." Frederica Schmauch recited and the first grade boys of the Second ward appeared in a well executed soldier drill. "The Grasshopper Song" was sung by the first, second and third grades of the Third ward, and were followed by a dialogue by Norman McKean and Evelyn Baker. The boys' glee club of the Second ward sang "You're a Grand Old Flag," and the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of the Third ward followed with a flag drill.

Charlotte Ayers recited, and the motion song, "Just Waking Up," was given by the first and second grades of the First ward. Mildred Smith sang a pretty solo. One of the prettiest numbers of the afternoon was the buttercup and daisy drill by pupils of the third and fourth grades of the Second ward. "A Boy's Troubles," were told by George Maryott. Pomeroy Blair sang a solo, and the girls' chorus from the seventh and eighth grades of the Third ward sang "'Twas the Rose." The closing number was the song, "Coming Through the Rye," by the fourth and fifth grades of the First ward.

CLASS DAY EXERCISES.

Seniors Had a Pleasant Time at the High School Building.

The senior class day exercises were held at the High school room yesterday afternoon and while not largely attended, were a pleasant event to the class and the spectators who heard the fun. The Seniors sang a school song and Miss Esther Wilt gave a cordial address of welcome. Miss Grace Gillett read the class statistics, dwelling on the peculiarities of the different members of 1906. Miss Beatrice Casselberry in her class history told of the greatness of 1906 and how well its members had conducted themselves in school days.

The feature of the afternoon was the poem written and read by William H. Ransom. Mr. Ransom has more than ordinary poetic ability and his compositon attracted very favorable comment among the class and spectators. The High school mandolin club gave some very appreciated music and John Silverman, one of the best orators of the school, gave an oration. Miss Annie E. Hale looked into the future and beheld the members of the class in later years. Sterling Pratt in his class will made a clever speech. A class song composed by Bert Bazzett, the school's song writer, was given. A number not down on the scheduled program was an amusing presentation of gifts from the Juniors to the Seniors by Walter Keyser.

GEORGE CLYMER CHAPTER OBSERVED FLAG DAY.

Entertained by the Vice Regent—Foster Melodies Were Sung.

Flags flew generally over Towanda on Thursday. It was the birthday of the national banner formally adopted 130 years before. The day was celebrated by the George Clymer Chapter D.A.R., at the home of the vice-regent, Mrs. C. L. Tracy. There was a full attendance of members who responded to roll call with appropriate quotations on the flag.

The day was especailly marked by the unveiling of a monument to Stephen C. Foster in Louisville, Ky. Stephen Foster's early life is associated with Towanda. He was born in Louisville, and this is the first concerted attempt made to prove that "My Old Kentucky Home" is a good place to revisit. Old Home week idea has been adopted, the call has been sent out to some 60,000 citizens of other states who were born in Kentucky to come home.

The program of the chapter was composed largely of music. Four of the Foster melodies were rendered by Mrs. R. H. Williams. Mrs. Hoffman read an account of the unveiling of the Foster monument. Items of interest on the national flag were given by different members. After reports of officers the annual election of officers took place. There were no changes except in the committee of safety. Refreshments were served by the hostess amid beautiful decorations of flowers and flags. Each member had a boutonniere flag presented by the Dickens Book Shop. Several new members were passed on by the committee of safety, and the chapter was adjourned. Ella M. Little, corresponding secretary.

Watson and Bazzett were in the points for Towanda, and Mahaney and Mee were the Athens battery. McMahon, Towanda's little centerfielder, made his first error of the season; Towanda acumulated six of these in the game, while Athens made but one. Towanda got 8 hits to 9 for Athens. Towanda made two double plays—Parsons in left field to Smith at second, and Corbett at short to Turner at first. The score by innings:

Got in the Wrong Pew.

A well known Towanda man who for many years resided and voted in the Second ward, last Spring moved into the First ward. At Saturday night's primaries this absented minded gentleman wended his way as usual to the court house, and tendered his ballot to the board. It was not until after the ballot had been accepted that some one discovered the mistake. The First warder then reversed himself receovered his ticket and wended his way to South Main street to vote in his own precinct.

An Empty Canoe.

A canoe with a sweater and a cap in the bottom but no occupant in it, was seen floating down the river Monterday. Word was soon spread that a canoeist had been drowned but it transpired that Edmund Turner, who was to have embarked in the craft, had placed his cap and sweater in the canoe and then gone for the paddle. While on this mission the wind carried off the canoe and started the drowning story.

School Principals Wanted.

Several school principals are wanted for desirable positions in this county. Prof. B. D. Phillips, for several years in charge of the schools at Monroeton, has been elected principal of the graded school at Luthers Mills, to succeed Prof. George C. AGNES O'NEILL FOUND BY HER FATHER AT WAVERLY.

Missing Girl Had Taken Employment as a Waitress.

Agnes O'Neill, the girl who so mysteriously disappeared from from Towanda, was located at Waverly Friday, much to the joy of her father, who went in search for her. May 31st she came to Towanda from her home near Albany, to try the teacher's examination, but she did not go to the Collegiate Institute wehere they were held and her parents had been unable to find any trace of her since that time.

She told a companion that she expected to visit her brothers in Syracuse, but as she did not arrive there it was thought that she had met with foul play or a serious accident. The police of all the nearby towns were notified of her disappearance.

Friday when her father came to Waverly, Chief Brooks accompanied him to the different hotels. When they went to the Tioga Hotel they were told that the new girl had worked there for the past two weeks who gave her name as Josephine Conners. They went to her room and the father was fairly overcome with joy when he found his daughter alive. She refused to give any reasons for leaving home and consented to go back with her father.

Her father said that she had always seemed content with her home and that her mother was frantic with grief over her disappearance. She left for home with her father Friday afternoon. She is a good looking girl 17 years of age and her conduct as far as can be discovered has been exemplary since she had been in Waverly.

DAMAGE BY HAIL.

Towanda Township Farmers Will Lose Heavily by Storm.

The violent rain and hail storm of Sunday was a heavy blow to the farmers of Towanda township, and will mean the loss of hundreds of dollars to them in damage to crops and through extra labor. Wheat was all beaten down and it is estimated that it will not amount to more than a third of a crop. Potatoes were riddled and washed out and tobacco plants, but recently set out, were driven into the muddy ground. These, however, had not advanced far enough to be cut by the hail and may be reset without much actual damage.

Gardens were ruined, some of them being taken off in layers and the truck went with them. The hail was much more heavy in the township than in the borough and six inches of the frozen stuff lay in windrows between tobacco beds yesterday morning at daylight.

Work Goes Merrily On.

The steam shovel at East Towanda Monday morning began a new cut at the old overhead crossing near the Nobles house, and finished that high bank. The track on the embankment has been moved to the East and the dirt is being used to widen the big pile in that direction. The dirt from the shovel at the Laning farm is used East of that point in widening the right of way. The East Towanda embankment will not be extended further North until an agreement is reached with the county commissioners regarding the approach to the river bridge.

Johnston—Scouton.

The engagement of Hattie Anna Scouton of Dushore to William Wallace Johnston of Scranton was announced at the junior lunch at Vassar college, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Wednesday evening, June 13.

HOMETS FERRY VICTIM MAY BE A TOWANDA MAN.

Charles Blinn is Miging From His Home, As Is Also An Athens Man.

There is a possibility that the unknown man found dead in a ravine near Homets Ferry on Sunday of this week, may be identified. Two men are missing, one, Charles Blinn from Towanda, and Ira L. McMillan of Athens.

Blinn disappeared from Towanda on May 30. He was employed by the Drury Manufacturing company at their new plant and lived at North Towanda. His description tallies with that of the dead man, especially in regard to the peculiar shaped round front teeth. His wife is of the opinion that Blinn was riding on a freight train and received a fall. She is making an attempt to identify the clothing, which is all that remains on which to base an opinion, as the body was so badly decomposed as to make identification by that means almost impossible.

Another theory, advanced by the Evening News, is that the dead man was Ira L. McMillan of Athens, and was employed in the furniture works there. On Friday, June 1, he reported for work, but quit after a couple of hours, saying he was ill. Later he was found intoxicated, and was started toward his home by the chief of police. This was the last seen of him.

Mrs. Edith White of Athens, went to Homets Ferry Thursday and made an examination of the clothing of the man found dead there on June 10. She was positve it was not the clothing of her brother, Ira McMillan. The clothing is now in possession of Justice Smith at Wyalusing. The trousers are grey with a dark plaid; the vest nearly the same. In the back of the vest is a "V" shaped patch, the outside of which is black satteen and the inside white silk hemmed down by hand. The shoes were No. 7.

SMALL BUT GOOD.

Morrow's Pavillion Show on Means Field—Old Time Shows.

Morrow's show, which travels in wagons, exhibited on Means field June 13, gave a nice vaudeville exhibition, but it was small, more in the class of the first show that ever came to the town, which was in 1820. An exhibition was given in William Means's horse barn. That company traveled on wagons and exhibited a lion, Bengal tiger and a monkey. The first circus ever exhibited in Towanda was Harrington's wagon circus in 1829, the tents of which were pitched in the public square and entertainments given for three or four days. Exhibitions of ring riding, tumbling, clown singing, etc, were given.

The very biggest thing of the kind, however, in Towanda, was the appearance on Aug. 12 1885, of Barnum, Bailey & Hutchinson's shows. The crowd which attended was the largest ever gathered in the town and was estimated from 20,000 to 25,000 persons.

Besides the usual races, there will be a public wedding, a baby show, public speaking on at least two days, balloon ascensions every day, an automobile parade, and numerous other daily attractions.

GETS TWENTY YEARS

Speedy Justice Meted Out to Kidnaper of Freddie Muth.

STOLEN BOY IN COURTROOM

Smiles at His Abductor, Whom He Seems to Like—Newspapers Largely Responsible For Lad's Recovery. How Kean Was Caught.

Philadelphia, June 19.—The grand jury found a true bill against John Joseph Kean, the kidnaper of Freddie Muth, and he was given an immediate trial and convicted in less than an hour. Judge Sulzberger sentenced him to twenty years.

When Kean was taken before Judge Sulzberger he requested that he be allowed to make a statement. He said there were mitigating circumstances in connection with the kidnaping, but the judge told the prisoner he must either plead guilty or not guilty. Kean then pleaded guilty. Three witnesses, the two special policemen who made the arrest and the proprietor of the eating house who had seen Kean and the lad together, then gave testimony before the judge. No jury was chosen. The prisoner was sentenced immediately.

From the time of Kean's arrest until he was on his way to the penitentiary to begin sentence less than twenty-four hours had elapsed.

Freddie Muth was brought to the courtroom by his father. He was a different boy from the child who was found dirty and hungry in the unoccupied house after a week's enforced absence from home. He was attired in a neat blue flannel sailor suit, and a pink rose was pinned to his lapel. Mr. Muth said the child was none the worse for his experience. In strong contrast was the appearance of the abductor. After a sleepless night in the cell he was haggard and wan. His eyes shifted nervously and his whole frame trembled visibly. He still seemed to fear bodily injury and eyed the spectators suspiciously. The police say he paced the cell all night sobbing and moaning, his wife and children being uppermost in his mind.

When he was placed in the dock Kean nodded to Freddie Muth, who sat beside his father, and the boy smiled. Pointing to Kean, the little fellow said: "There he is, papa. See?"

Has Strange Influence on Boy.

Kean appeared to exert a strange influence over the child, who showed a feeling akin to friendship for the man.

Kean made a statement in which he denied that he had restrained the child in any way, but said, on the contrary, that Freddie had opportunities to leave him several times. He said he had not ill treated the boy, and in this he was corroborated by the child.

"I was passing Mrs. Muth's jewelry store one day," Kean said, "and saw the boy sitting in the window. I heard some one say, 'Now, don't you go away, Freddie.' It occurred to me, How much would they give to get the boy back if he did go away?"

He was at his wits' end for money and took the chance. He had committed embezzlement. Unless he had money at once the penitentiary stared him in the face. In an instant the crime was conceived; in two days it was executed.

The unraveling of the mystery was born in an incident almost as slight. Kean, with the boy, late on the night of the kidnaping happened to stop for an instant at a restaurant near Sixty-first and Haverford streets. When the police threw a net over the entire city and dragged its highways and byways the fact came to light, and the detectives got the right scent.

In the first place, the police had a fair description of the kidnaper to work on. The messenger boy who took the note to Principal Ring recalled in detail what the man looked like.

A vigorous search concentrated in the neighborhood of the restaurant, and this developed the fact that the description tallied with that of John Joseph Kean of 415 North Horton street. Inquiries were casually made at the house. It was found that Kean had been acting as a subagent for Thomas J. Cooke, a real estate man, and that he handled vacant property in that neighborhood.

Newspapers Fooled Kidnaper.

It was learned also that Kean had not been home since Tuesday afternoon. A wife and three children had been left without knowledge of where he had gone. Cooke was sought. He said Kean had recently got into financial difficulties and that he knew he must make good several hundred dollars or go to jail. Cooke furnished the police with specimens of Kean's handwriting, which was identical with that of the kidnaper.

The vacant house of which Kean had charge was closely watched. Meanwhile to fool Kean into fancied security the newspapers had accounts to the effect that Muth had given up the search and had called off the detectives. Mr. Muth himself entered into this plan and consented to place himself before the public as a father who had lost all decency and would connive at the kidnaping of his own child. Muth said that the boy had been taken away by relatives and that he knew where he was. He also agreed to having a story printed to the effect that he had been fooling the police, who had given up the case in disgust.

This story resulted in throwing Kean off his guard. He peeped from his hiding place and was seen by a man who promptly reported to the police. Two officers were sent to the house and Kean and his captive were caught.

Kidnaper Robbed Harlem Bank.

New York, June 19.—It is learned that John Joseph Kean, the kidnaper of Freddie Muth, disappeared from this city in May, 1894, a few weeks after the Harlem River bank, 2007 Third avenue, closed its doors. Kean was alleged to have stolen $20,000 from this bank. Kean held the position of bookkeeper in the bank at a salary of $840 a year.

CURTIS JETT CONFESSES.

Kentucky Feudist Admits Murdering Two Men.

Cynthiana, Ky., June 13.—Curtis Jett, who was to have been put on trial at Owenton for the second time for the assassination of James Cockrill, town marshal of Jackson, Ky., in

CURTIS JETT.

July, 1902, has made a complete confession. He not only admits that he was one of the hidden band that murdered Cockrill, but declares that with his own hand he shot James B. Marcum of Jackson and was to have been one of the murderers of Dr. B. D. Cox, but failed to be in at the finish. Jett said that former Sheriff Ed Callahan, B. F. French and Elbert Hargis were the men who planned the murders.

TRIBUTE TO "OLD BLACK JOE"

Kentucky Perpetuates Memory of Composer Stephen C. Foster.

Louisville, Ky., June 14.—A notable feature of "home coming week" was the memorial to Stephen C. Foster. It is doubtful if any composer ever received a more flattering tribute than that accorded to Foster when 1,000 of the school children of Louisville, who by their contributions have made possible a Foster monument of bronze which is to stand in the new cathedral at Frankfort, sang his beautiful music in chorus and cheered every mention of his name.

The children gathered at Third avenue and Broadway and, escorted by the Louisville Light infantry, marched to the armory on Walnut street, where the model of the Foster statue was unveiled by Mrs. Marion Foster Welsh of Allegheny, Pa., daughter of Mr. Foster. Standing by Mrs. Welsh were Mrs. Jesse Welsh Rose, granddaughter of the composer, and his two great-grandchildren, Dorothy Jane Rose and Stephen Collins Foster Rose. The chorus of children, accompanied by an orchestra, then sang in a manner that evoked enthusiastic cheers "The Old Kentucky Home," "Old Folks at Home," "Old Black Joe" and other Foster melodies.

TERRANOVA GIRL GOES FREE

Takes Vow at Cathedral to Live a Pure Life Hereafter.

New York, June 13.—Josephine Terranova, the Italian girl recently acquitted of murdering her aunt, was discharged from jail. Justice Scott granted the motion made by Assistant District Attorney Ely which frees her from undergoing trial for the murder of her uncle.

An hour after her release she appeared before Father Ferranti at St. Patrick's cathedral and took a vow to henceforth lead a pure life. She will be taken to a home at a distance from here, where she will not be confronted with past scenes. Former Judge Palmieri, her counsel, said that a good home had been provided for her.

Trying Philadelphia Ex-Officials.

Philadelphia, June 13.—Abraham L. English, former director of public safety of this city; Philip H. Johnson, former city architect; James D. Finley, a building inspector, and Henry A. Baton of the firm of Henderson & Co., contractors, were placed on trial charged with conspiracy to defraud the city in connection with the construction of a municipal hospital. The defendants were arrested shortly after Mayor Weaver's break with the Republican organization. English was director during Mayor Ashbridge's administration and Johnson and Finley are relatives of Israel W. Durham, former leader of the Republican organization in this city.

Perhaps.

He—Why is it that unmarried women are usually "girls?" She—Possibly for the same reason that married men are mostly "boys."

Within the past few days reports have been received from many of the granges in Pomona District No. 23, that show somewhat of the present condition and doings of the Patrons of Husbandry in this section. In the order of receipt the following notes are given: Secretary Miss Effie A. Alger of Columbia grange, reports 414 members; several applications on hand; a good printed program prepared by the lecturer and literary committee; the members assigned to act a part on program are generally prompt in so doing, and there is no lack in profitable entertainment. A brother who visited this grange May 30, says the memorial services were exceedingly fine.

Theodore Smith, secretary of Armenia grange, reports a membership of 37, and says the most of their members joined for fire insurance and take no interest in anything more.

Brother Wood, lecturer of Smithfield grange, reports 120 members. The meetings are occupied with select readings, talks degree work and regular business. More interest in discussions desireed.

J. P. Stafford, lecturer of Standing Stone grange, reports 48 members, and applications on hand. In discussing the question, "What can be done to solve the problem of farm labor?" Mrs. C. A. Stalford said: "The farmers as a rule, try to educate their children and then give them a higher calling than farming." The program of this grange consists of select reading, recitations, declamations, discussions, and various other literary exercises.

D. O'Sullivan, lecturer of Overshot grange, reports only 16 members. This is the smallest grange in the district. He reports the time of meeting occupied with discussions mostly. In discussing the preference of persons for governor, he says all voted for W. F. Hill.

Reuben Thrasher, lecturer of College grange, reports 129 members, and mentions these questions as discussed at last meeting: "What is of the most use to farmers?" "What is the difference between the black maple and the white maple?" "What were the leading qualifications of Abraham Lincoln?" He says the lecturer's hour is the most entertaining part of their meetings.

Mrs. F. X. Dodge, lecturer of Towanda Valley grange, reports 196 members and no regular program. She favors the idea that each and every member can do as much to interest the grangers as the lecturer can, but others say the lecturer is the most essential officer. Question for the good of the order make the most entertaining part of our meetings.

Mrs. Jennie Palmer, lecturer of Open Hand grange, reports 122 members and a printed program prepared by the program committee. The following questions were discussed at recent meeting: "Why should we observe Memorial day?" "What is the real object of the Pomona grange and how can we get the most benefit from its members? followed at next meeting by a good, inspiring report of recent Pomona by members who attended. Had one public meeting during past three months. The program consisted of music, recitations, etc. There is a lack in vocal and instrumental music.

Mrs. Ida Campbell, lecturer of Lincoln grange, reports 150 members. The following questions were discussed at last meeting: "What can we do to advance the interests of our grange?" "What can the grange do to help secure parcel post?" Our question makes lively meetings. We have had three literary entertainments, consisting of select readings, music, discussions and recitations. The best method to secure a large attendance and get all to take an active part in the work is desired.

D. E. Lewis, lecturer of Ondowa grange, reports 110 members. At last meeting had initiation. Brother Hill was talked about for governor. He was heartily endorsed. It is time for farmers to have representation. We have a committee on entertainment for literary exercises. A well arranged program of immediate interest will aid in enlivening dull meetings.

Mrs. Arvilla E. Carner, master of Overton grange, reports 71 members, and a program when time permits. At last meeting the following was discussed and adopted: "Resolved, That W. F. Hill should be nominated for governor." The most interesting part of our exercises so far this year has been initiations, the question box, recitations and select readings. If we did not meet every week we could not keep up our work.

D. W. Post, secretary of Central grange, reports 54 members. A literary committee appointed by the master and overseer furnish a very interesting program every two weeks, consisting of songs, recitations, etc. We discussed these questions: "Free alcohol," "Trolleys carrying freight," "Two-cent mileage," and "Equalization of taxation." Our literary program is the most entertaining part of our work. At last meeting the secretary spoke of the value and use of "Free alcohol to the farmer, cost of manufacture, its present duty, etc." A motion was adopted to request Hon. Boise Penrose to use all honorable menas to effect its passage at present session of congress. Our members have laid away our old regulars and substituted beautiful grange badges. The hall is being papered and a new carpet will soon be in use. Just received a large invoice of groceries and are well pleased with the quality and price. We are fast awakening to the benefits derived from orders from grange houses. Another order will be sent soon.

In the next issue reports will be continued in order received. Space will not permit all to be inserted this time. We hope to have reports in from all of the granges before the next issue.

NEW YORK FASHIONS

Pattern For Party Frock For Lady Gay Designed by Martha Dean—No. 4013

Here is a model for a party frock which is dainty enough to please even the most fastidous of dames. Though it embodies the little maid's idea of what a festive frock should be, it nevertheless is as simple as mothers of good taste insist a child's clothes must be. As proof of its simplicity, by omitting a quota of its trimmings and using cashmere, challis or linen as a medium, this design would prove an excellent gown for ordinary wear. But, to return to the party frock, the beautiful thin organdies with a floral design of delicate tint are exquisite and make up charmingly for just such purposes. The insertion and edging may be of the large meshed German valenciennes, which adds to the light filminess of the material. If developed in any of the light woolens, the guimpe parts are used for a lining upon which to attach the waist and bertha. For the medium size two and a half yards of thirty-six inch material are needed. No. 4013, sizes, 4 to 9 years.

DIRECTIONS FOR ORDERING

Send 10 cents to this office, give number of this pattern, No. 4013, and state size desired. It will then be sent to you by mail postpaid. Be sure to write plainly and always give full address. Several days must be allowed for delivery of pattern.

Pattern For a Child's Petticoat Skirt Designed by Martha Dean—No. 4750

Mothers who have to spend time in dressing children will welcome with interest a pattern for a skirt which is so dainty and practical as the one shown. It is made on a fitted yoke, the closing being made by one button on the shoulder. The skirt is shaped on the shoulders and under the arms, thus doing away with the objectionable seams and hems at the armholes, which are always clumsy and with the seams of the other garments are apt to be uncomfortable. This model is the result of careful study and will be found most satisfactory if made of any of the skirt materials. The pattern for a child of three years requires one and three-eighths yards of thirty-six inch material. No. 4750, sizes, 6 months to 6 years.

DIRECTIONS FOR ORDERING

Send 10 cents to this office, give number of this pattern, No. 4750, and state size desired. It will then be sent to you by mail postpaid. Be sure to write plainly and always give full address. Several days must be allowed for delivery of pattern.

BRADFORD COUNTY SURGEONS ON SPLENDID TRIP.

Dr. Gates of Troy and Dr. Edward Reed of Wysox, on Charleston.

The cruise which Secretary Elihu Root will make to the South American republics is especially interesting to this county by reason of the fact that Dr. Gates, the ship's chief surgeon, is a Troy man, and the assistant surgeon, Dr. Edward Reed, is from Wysox, and is a son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Reed. Both these Bradford countians have made excellent records and their selection for the southern cruise with Mr. Root is evidence of this.

The ship has been fitted up in magnificent manner as befits a vessel that will be seen by the dignataries of the countries to be visited by the Root party. On the warship will be a band of 15 men who will enliven many a dull hour in Winter from Buenos Ayres to Valparaiso, nearly 3,000 miles.

As at present arranged, the itinerary of the trip of 10,000 miles contemplates stops at San Juan, P. R., Rio Janeiro, where the secretary will attend the Pan-American conference; Montevideo, Buenos Ayres, Valparaiso, Callao, and ends the voyage at Panama in the latter part of September.

When Secretary Root and his party are landed the duties of the navy to the state department will be ended. The Charleston will then go on to the Pacific station to relieve the Chicago, and Rear Admiral Goodrich will transfer his flag to the new 10,500 ton cruiser.

Ninety-nine per cent. of the foodstuffs sold in Pennsylvania is free from adulterations, according to the statements of Prof. C. B. Cochrane, the state chemist.

He was in Wilkes-Barre, accompanied by R. M. Simmers, the pure food agent, and the two were testing a number of samples, and incidentally settling a number of cases, now pending before the Luzerne courts. It appears that one merchant there had been accused of selling oleo outside of the territory specified in his license, and the other is charged with selling adulterated bologna.

"The agents," said Prof. Cochrane, "have been in this section monthly, sometimes weekly, and there is hardly a day that samples are not shipped to me from various parts of the state, and after a careful analysis I find that about 95 per cent, are pure and only now and then are we able to find a violator of the laws. This is a decidedly commendable average."

MORSE—WILCOX.

Well Known and Popular LeRoy People Wedded on June 13.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Wilcox, widow of Dr. William B. Wilcox, of LeRoy, on the evening of June 13, when her only daughter, Miss Effie May Wilcox, was united in marriage to Rancy K. Morse, also of LeRoy.

Promptly at 8 o'clock the bridal party took their positions beneath an arch of evergreens with a background of evergreens and flowers, where the ceremony was performed by S. B. Morse, Esq., the father of the groom, in the presence of a small company of invited guests, being only the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The bride was becomingly attired in a beautiful light costume.

After congratulations the guests were served to a bountiful wedding feast. The dining room and sitting room was very tastefully decorated with evergreens, laurel blossoms and other flowers, while many beautiful potted plants added to the attractiveness of the scene.

After the wedding supper the company were entertained with music and singing, Mrs. Miles Bunyan presiding at the piano.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many useful and beautiful presents, which attest to the high esteem in which they are held, being among the most popular people of LeRoy, and also well and favorably known to a wide circle of friends in the surrounding towns, who will unite in wishing them a happy and prosperous life together.

The groom is an enterprising and public spirited business man of LeRoy, being interested in various enterprises, and for over 20 years a funeral director, in which business he is well known far and near.

The happy couple will commence housekeeping at once, on Mill street, where the groom has a well furnished home.

THE VERY LIMIT.

A New York State Hail Storm That Was a Real Corker.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Allen of Richford, were caught in the storm last Saturday at Peruville.

The Newark Valley Herald says: To escape the rain Mr. Allen decided to drive into a blacksmith shop and Mrs. Allen started for a house near by. To protect her head from the hailstones, which were many of them larger than hen's eggs, Mrs. Allen put her hands over the top of her head. Even then one struck below her hand, cutting a big gash and stunning her so she fell to her knees. Though dazed, she managed to reach the house before her husband reached her, but it was a wonder she escaped with her life. Her hands were covered with black and blue spots and there are still at least a dozen black and blue spots two or three inches across on her arms and other parts of her body. Her watch, which was under her belt, was smashed and wheels in the works broken by one of the big hailstones hitting it. Though recovering from the bruises, she still suffers from the effects of the terrible blows on her head. In a field near where Mrs. Allen was, a colt 2½ months old, was killed by the hailstones."

OWEN—BOSTWICK.

Pretty Wedding Occurred at Grover June 2.

A SCHOOL MONTH LOST.

Towanda Township Raised Tax Rate and Cut Term to Seven Months.

A correspondent of this paper writes: "As a result of badly adjusted legislation, the children of Towanda township will only have seven months school. The Act of 1903 increasing teachers' wages compelled the closing of one school. The school tax has been raised from a minimum of one mill to 3½ mills for the next year. In view of extra burdens imposed by the Act of 1905 allowing students to attend neighboring high schools, the directors could do no better than to raise the tax and cut off one month.

"The state appropriation pays less than one-half the school expense. There was no increase in it when the legislation increasing the tax burdens was passed, consequently taxes are increased and educational facilities decreased. What is true of Towanda township will be true of hundreds of other school districts, and furnishes a potent argument for the state assuming a far greater percentage of the school expense. School taxes in relation to other local taxes are too high."

In Poultry Business.

J. H. Hawes, son of James R. Hawes of this place, was in town Monday. Mr. Hawes is now in the chicken business and is located on the farm of his cousin, E. J. Whitehead, about one mile from Burlington. Mr. Hawes is continually enlarging his business in which he is taking a great interest and expending much energy. His equipment at Burlington consists of a breeding or laying house with a capacity of 150 fowls and other smaller houses able to accommodate 50 hens. Two incubators are run and excellent success is being secured from the hatchings. Mr. Hawes handles single comb buff and white Leghorns and single comb buff and barred Plymouth rocks. He also keeps fox terrier dogs.

Lightning Struck Girl.

During the thunder storm of June 9, Muriel, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Marks, who live near Norwich, was standing in the house in front of the telephone a bolt of lightning entered the room over the telephone wire and struck the little girl on her left shoulder, passed diagonally across the front of her body and down her right leg to the heel, leaving a scarlet mark about three-fourths of an inch wide the entire distance across her limbs and body. The child was rendered unconscious, but soon recovered and suffers no inconvenience from the shock.

Sentences Imposed.

Howard Ferris of Waverly, has been sentenced by Judge Mead to a year at hard labor in Auburn state prison, and Joseph McHale also of that village, has been sent to Elmira reformatory, subject to the rules of that institution. They are the young men who burglarized J. P. Murphy's cigar store and Ballenstedt's bakery a few weeks ago and were caugh tin the act by the Waverly police.

A Murder Unsolved.

One year ago Sunday, on June 17, 1905, Chief of Police E. W. Fenner of Troy, was murdered by burglars. No arrests have ever been made in the case and the murder has always remained a mystery. There was a belief that some Troy man did the deed but there was evidently little or no evidence to back up this belief. Mrs. Fenner and her only son are now living at Milton.

FARM, ORCHARD AND GARDEN AUTHOR HAS PASSED AWAY.

Joseph S. Trigg, Philosopher, Journalist and Lecturer, Is Dead.

Readers of this paper who have enjoyed and profited by the Farm, Orchard and Garden department, will be pained to learn that its talented editor is dead.

Joseph S. Trigg, one of the most widely known agricultural writers in the United States, passed away at his home in Rockford, Ia., June 6, surrounded by the members of his family. Death resulted after an illness extending over a period of about six months and was due to overwork.

Mr. Trigg was born 65 years ago in Hertfordshire, England. He came to this country when a child, and no more loyal American ever lived than he. He had worked his way to the West when the war broke out, and he enlisted immediately. He served four full years in a Minnesota regiment. He was known as a good soldier. Returning from the front in 1865, he was married to Miss Laura M. Shafford, and the young couple began life together on the farm. Thirty years and more have passed since they went to Iowa. At first they lived at Charles City and later went to Rockford, where Mr. Trigg began his newspaper work in 1885 on the Rockford Register.

But he never abandoned his first love, farming. He loved the soil and its productiveness. He never was without land. His orchard at Rockford was the dearest care of his life, after his family, and all during his career his newspapering, his writing, his philosophy, after all, says the Des Moines Register and Leader, were side issues to the absorbing interest he took in seeing things grow by the bounty of the Creator plus the energy of man.

Mr. Trigg was an authority on agricultural questions. His work in the line of lecturing before farmers' institutes, writing for agricultural papers, furnishing an agricultural page for weekly newspapers and his co-operation with others in the campaign of education of the farmers of the West in the matter of planting seed corn that had been selected and tested and his work in encouragement of good roads building made him a factor in this field second to none. He was in the greatest demand for lectures and papers before associations of all kinds, for his intellectual attainments gave him the widest conceivable range of subjects, and it was doubtless over-taxation of his strength in the effort to fill many of these dates that led to the shock of nervous prostration which finally ended his life.

Mr. Trigg became the editor of the Iowa State Register about two years ago.

But while he did this work he also served the American Press association with pages of agricultural writings for their weekly clients, a labor that occupied much time and into which he poured his best thought and energy. His editorials were different from those of any other writer in the field. With the exact science of the advice and information he furnished he coupled an extremely interesting form of expression and the frequent addition of remarks of a philosophical turn which enlivened the pages and made them as good reading for one as for another. His work was entertaining as well as instructive.

For several months, during Mr. Trigg's illness, the Farm, Orchard and Garden department, which has so long been a most important and enjoyable feature of The Daily Review, has been edited by F. E. Trigg, assisted by his brother Paul. It is with pleasure the publishers announce that the department will be continued by F. E. Trigg, who is editor of the Rockford (Ia.) Register.

Will Settle Interesting Point.

The validity of a contract for political services is likely to be tested very soon in Wyoming county. A judgment has been entered against Benjamin Gary, who was supposed to have some political influence in Forkston. The note was assigned to John P. Day and execution issued. Mr. Gary filed an affidavit of defense, in which he stated that he made an agreement with a certain candidate for a county office whereby he was to receive $1.50 per day for 33 days' work, and that by his work the note was paid and there is now a balance due him. Mr. Gary announces that he will fight to the bitter end.—Tunkhannock Republican.

Goes to Slatington.

Joseph H. Hurst, who for the past few years has been the principal of the Wyalusing township High school, goes to Slatington where he will have charge of the schools of that city for the coming year. Mr. Hurst, whose salary as principal will be $1,500 per year, is a splendid educator and it is largely through his ability as a teacher and principal that the schools at Camptown have a reputation second to none of the township High schools of the state.

Sneak Thief Robbery.

Sneak thieves secured watches and jewelry to the amount of $1,200 some time last week from the residence of J. H. Brown at Cedar Lodge. The loss was discovered on Wednesday afternoon, and the last time the articles were known to be there was on Monday. The coal office of Sewell & Coryell received a visit, probably from the same people on Monday, and about $25 was taken from the safe.

Approaching Wedding.

The marriage of Miss Arra Vandemark to Evan Dowling Williamson of Buffalo, will take place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. V. Weller, at Athens, June 27.

McCUE—SULLIVAN.

Pretty Wedding Celebrated in the Church of SS. Peter and Paul.

John McCue of Warren, and Miss Mary Sullivan, daughter of John Sullivan of Rome township, were united in marriage Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock in the Church of SS. Peter and Paul with a nuptial high mass. Miss Josephine Dolan of Rhode Island, was bridesmaid, and W. T. Sullivan, the bride's brother, was best man. The maid of honor was Miss Ella Thayne of Montrose. The flower girls, dressed in white and wearing wreaths were Rosalene McKenna of Waverly, and Loretta Fitzgerald of Cebu; they led the bridal procession. The ushers were Walter Hickey of Nichols, N. Y., Francis Sullivan of Lake Wesauking, John Sullivan of Rome and Thomas Thayne of Scranton.

The bride was gowned in white silk crepe de chine, trimmed with baby Irish lace and pearls and she carried a white prayer book. Miss Thayne wore white chiffon over pink and carried carnations. The bridesmaid wore white silk and carried white and pink carnations. The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a locket set in pearls and to the maid of honor a brooch set in pearls. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold watch set in pearls.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Kinney House at which over 100 persons attended. Mr. and Mrs. McCue took the Black Diamond express for a trip to New York and Boston.

DEMOCRATS CONSIDERING CREASY FOR GOVERNOR.

Lineup of a Ticket Proposed by Prominent Politicians.

Notwithstanding the strength of the protest against the nomination of a Democrat to head the Democratic ticket to be nominated by the state convention at Harrisburg on Wednesday, June 27, Col. James M. Guffey and a number of his political advisers, including State Chairman Charles P. Donnelly, met at Harrisburg and decided to force the nomination of a Democrat—probably State Representative William T. Creasy of Columbia county, for governor, against ex-State Senator Lewis Emery, Jr.

Besides Col. Duffey and Chairman Donnelly, those who discussed the situation at Harrisburg included Secretary P. Gray Meek of Centre county, State Treasurer William H. Berry of Delaware, John P. Ancona of Berks county and Senator Patrick Calpin of Lackawanna county.

As a result of the conference, it is believed that the following ticket is to be forced upon the convention:

Governor—William T. Creasy of Columbia county.

Lieut. governor—Rudolph Blankenburg of Philadelphia.

Auditor general—Homer L. Castle of Allegheny county.

Secretary of internal affairs—Elisha A. Coray of Luzerne county.

This ticket, as proposed, is designed to weaken the Lincoln party; bring about fusion with the Democrats, and tickle the independent Republicans. Mr. Blankenburg, who at the Lincoln party convention held in Philadelphia, declared that he did not want the nomination for lieutenant governor, but who was compelled to accept the nomination, is suggested for the second place on the Democratic ticket with the idea of weakening the Lincoln ticket.

Homer L. Castle, who is mentioned for auditor general, told Col. Guffey in Pittsburg that he wanted the lieutenant governorship or nothing else. He is the nominee of the Prohibition party for lieutenant governor.

Elisha A. Coray of Luzerne county, an independent Republican, is the nominee for secretary of internal affairs of both the Lincoln and Prohibition parties.—Wilkes-Barre Record.

Oregon, Washington and British Columbia, $79.25 round trip. Tickets to be sold June 17 to 21 inclusive, limited to return within 60 days.
